

Patti Meire is the Coordinator for the Public & Guardian Conservator Program at the Virginia Department for Aging and Rehabilitative Services. Patti has had a varied legal career since graduating from Georgetown University Law Center in 1986. For most of her career she worked in the area of corporate and securities law at Reynolds Metals Company and the law firm of Hunton & Williams. Patti was inspired to attend law school by her time working as a paralegal for the Legal Services Corporation in rural Florida. In 2009, she found her way back to her public service roots when she began working as guardian ad litem for children in the Henrico County Juvenile Court. She is thrilled to be the Coordinator of the Public Guardian Program where she is able to use the skills she acquired from both areas of her practice to advocate for this extraordinary program and the people it serves.
